

When I Look Away...

Mummy, I love when we look at each other. I drink you in with my eyes. But holding your gaze is really intense for me, I'm working hard to keep up with you, so after awhile I need a break.

Take your time little one. I'll quietly watch and wait while you catch your breath. When you've recharged and look back, my eyes will be waiting for you.

Please don't think I'm rejecting you when I look away. I just need to recover.
